FINAL TOUCHES PUT ON ROUNDUP

With Arraignment of Three More
Arlington Men, Number of Indictments Accounted For is 42.

ONLY THREE TO BE ARRESTED

Arlington Indictments Indicate That
Many There Celebrated Election
Too Boisterously.

The final touches have about been placed on the grand jury clean-up as far as actual arrests are concerned. With the arraignment of three more men from Arlington this morning the total number of indictments accounted for totals 42, leaving only three yet to be arrested. It is believed that at least one of the men wanted is out of the state and that another will return within a few days.

The Arlington crowd all pleaded guilty, bringing the total number of convictions up to twelve. The rest of the men will stand trial. The past two days have been busy ones for court officials handling the criminal business. Sheriff Cavitt has brought the men in just as fast as they could be located. Thirteen men were brought into court yesterday, nine the day before and three today.

Two additional Arlington arrests were Claude McDaniel, charged with public intoxication and assault and battery; Knowles Beckner and Jacob Reeves, charged with public intoxication. All entered pleas of guilty. Judge Sparks assessed the minimum fine of $1 and costs in the intoxication charges.

McDaniel was charged with assault and battery on his daughter, Hilda McDaniel. McDaniel pleaded guilty to the charge and out of sympathy for his family the court suspended the sentence of $1 and costs and six months on the penal farm. The girl is about seventeen years old and McDaniel stated that she was frequently so rude and unmanageable that he was compelled to whip her. Judge Sparks told him that there were other ways of correcting the child without being brutal. The fine of $1 and costs on the intoxication charge was also suspended pending good behavior.

It will be recalled that Arlington did a lot of celebrating along about election time and the indictments against the men for public intoxication indicate that the wrong-doing reached its climax about this time.

The indictments all charge the men with being inoxicated on dates ranging from Nov. 4 to Nov. 9.

The men were charged with being in the pool room of Robert Gilson and Gilson himself pleaded guilty to being drunk. It was stated that the drinking in Arlington was the most common on Saturdays and reached its highest point along about election time. The victory of Woodrow Wilson was rather expensive for a number of the men, it is pointed out, because of the number of pleas of guilty.

According to statements made since the pleas were entered, the pool room was the "hanging-out place" of this element and the disturbances became so great that the attention of the grand jury was called to conditions. Gilson pleaded guilty to five of six charges and made arrangements to stay his fines, amounting in all to $92.50. The charges against Gilson included one for selling cigarettes to minors, the first ever returned here for this. The grand jury meets again on January 8 and it is estimated that similar charges may be brought against others.

ICENOGLE CHILD DIES

Gerald Icenogle, the five-days-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Icenogle died this morning at seven o'clock at the home of his parents in West Ninth street. Burial will take place in Richland tomorrow.

WILL ORGANIZE TUESDAY NIGHT

City Committee Officers Will be Selected by Ten Committeemen of the Township

NOT ALL INSIDE THE CITY

Organization is Different Because of Primary Law—no Candidates are Announced Yet

Following the suggestions of the republican state committee, the members of the republican central committee representing the precincts wholly or touching in the city of Rushville will meet next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the courthouse assembly room for the purpose of organizing for the city campaign.

Under the primary election law, those members of the county committee whose precincts either are wholly in Rushville or reach within the city limits become the city committee. According to the law they are to meet at a fixed time and elect a chairman, vice-chairman and a treasurer. The time has been fixed for Tuesday night at seven-thirty o'clock.

Gran Gregg, who was city chairman in the city campaign of 1913 and who acts in this capacity until his successor is named, has issued the call for the meeting. The meeting is not confined merely to the committee but any republican interested can attend. The suggestion of the state committee will be followed in organizing for the coming campaign.

No names have been mentioned in connection with the city chairmanship or other offices and it is considered likely that Mr. Gregg will again be named. Mr. Gregg conducted a highly satisfactory campaign in 1913, redeeming the city to the republicans. An effort will be made to get an efficient organization. The county precinct committee living in the city or whose precincts touch the city are urged to attend the meeting Tuesday night as the organization is over half the battle.

As far as can be learned the democrats of the city have made no arrangements for perfecting their organization in the city. Just what plan they will follow it not known.

With the primary scheduled for March candidates for city offices have been slow to announce. The candidates will probably wait until after the first of the year. Thus far no names have been mentioned for mayor and only one or two for city clerk and none of these is definite. Because of the pay and amount of work involved it is always difficult to get men to run for the council.

Because of the primary law, the organization of the city committee is different from that ever conducted before. Heretofore the six precinct committee of the three wards in the city have composed the city committee and have organized it.

These six committeemen will serve again in the city election next fall, but all of the ten precinct committeemen in the township will participate in the committee organization because the call from the state central committee says all committeemen whose precincts lie wholly or touch the city shall help effect the organization. It so happens that every one of the precincts of the committee chosen at the primary last March either are situated wholly within the city or are partly within the city.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Will have 3 candidates in the Rank of Page Monday night—all members of the Page team are urged to be present and all candidates for the Page Rank class.

MORE JOIN RACE FOR POSTOFFICE

Since Receipt of News Mrs. James
R. Sage May Not Land Plum,
Others Become Candidates

MILROY PEOPLE TAKE SIDES

Postoffice Inspector Makes Investigations and Report is Expected Very Soon

R. F. Stewart, postal inspector for this district with headquarters in Indianapolis, has been in Milroy investigating the situation relative to the appointment of a postmaster to succeed James R. Sage, who resigned to take effect Dec. 15. Upon the recommendations of the inspector largely depends who will get the Milroy plum.

The Milroy postoffice muddle has furnished plenty of talk and excitement for that town and today it is the main topic of conversation. The community has taken sides and each has its favorite candidate. When Sage resigned Congressman Gray announced that he would recommend the appointment of James Spillman. This brought a storm of protest from the patrons of the office.

The congressman evidently heeded the protests for he then announced that he would recommend the appointment of Mrs. Sage, wife of the postmaster, and her name was sent to the senate by President Wilson for confirmation. At this stage of the game the postoffice department stepped into the proceedings by asking the senate to hold up the appointment until an investigation could be made. The postoffice department stated that the appointment was against the department's policy to make appointments to fill out unexpired terms. Sage has over a year to serve and the department objected to filling out the unexpired term by appointment.

The controversy resulted in the sending of Inspector Stewart to the town for the purpose of looking over the situation. Inspector Stewart talked to all of the candidates and a lot of disinterested parties, but when it came to talking he was like a clam and absolutely refused to commit himself. The report is expected in a few days.

In the meantime while the people are waiting for the postoffice department to take some action other candidates have entered the race and petitions are being circulated in an effort to land the job. Besides Mrs. Sage and James Spillman, M. A. Poisal is said to be an avowed candidate and H. B. Wilson, former principal of the Rushville high school, is said to be in a receptive mood. All of the candidates have their friends and there never was more interest taken in a postoffice fight in Milroy than is being displayed now.

OBSERVANCE TO BE SAME

Postoffice Will Close at 10 A. M.
Monday and One Delivery

The postoffice will observe New Year's day as a holiday in the usual manner. The route carriers will not make a delivery. There will be one city delivery and one parcel post delivery and the office will close at ten o'clock in the morning for the balance of the day. Outside of the postoffice and banks the day will not be generally observed here. A few of the stores will close, but for the most part business will be carried on as usual. The county offices will be open as usual and the day will not be observed in the court house.

LEADERS MUST HEED DEMAND

Banquo's Ghost of Opening Days of Congress Will be Wood Resolution for Investigation

REFUSES TO BE SMOOTHERED

Congress Must Listen to Complaints of Victims of "Leak" on Wilson Peace Note

(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 29.—R. K. Henry, chairman of the house committee on rules, wired Thomas W. Lawson at New York today asking him to come to Washington at once for a conference if he has any information regarding "leaks" to Wall Street on President Wilson's peace note. In his telegram Henry said:

"Instead of trying to bring this peace movement into disrepute you as a patriotic citizen should defend it. If you have any proof which I doubt come to Washington and confer with me immediately."

Henry after sending the telegram said: "If Mr. Lawson states the truth about Wall Street and alleged 'leaks' it shows that the bill to regulate the New York Stock Exchange should be speedily passed and should be made even more drastic. I shall reintroduce the bill next Tuesday."

Washington, Dec. 29.—The Banquo's ghost of the opening days of Congress after the holiday recess will be the Wood resolution calling for an investigation of the "leak" of the president's peace note, by means of which so many small investors in the stock market were ruined and a few "big men" made millions.

Congress adjourned with the majority leaders in a contemptuous mood toward the Wood resolution. They thought they could easily smother it in committee. But now they know better. They may still attempt to smother the inquiry, but they will have to listen to some very plain talk on the floor of the house before that is done. In the present instance Washington gossip is much more explicit than usual, and names are mentioned with larger freedom than is generally the case when high officialdom is thought to have "put one over." There are too many wounded small investors among the constituents of the representatives who will not follow the advice which the late Senator Quay once gave to an aggrieved henchman to "suffer in silence." They are being heard from and the tenor of their demand is to find out who leaked.

For more than six months there have been ugly rumors afloat in Washington to the effect that a few persons who can pretend to an opportunity of intimacy with the president have been heavily "in the market," that their takings of profits have been far from negligible, and that their operations on the board have been aided no little by advance information which they have been able to secure regarding the purposes of the administration.

So long as the market was headed upward and everyone was getting his bit of the profits, there was no inclination on the part of anyone, except a few stern moralists, to interfere. With cynical good humor the investing public shrugged its shoulders when these sinister suggestions were broached—and turned to latest quotations.

But now the wounded birds are uttering in every financial dove-cote and their cooing has changed to an anguished wail. If two or three hundred thousand small investors all over the country, who have lost money in the recent

WILL OUTLINE RAIL SITUATION

Four Brotherhood Heads Announce That They Will Issue Circular to Trainmen.

A BRIEF REVIEW IS GIVEN

Probability of Additional Legislation
After Decision Will Dissatisfy Workers.

(By United Press)
New York, Dec. 29.—The entire situation raised by the Adamson eight-hour law and the test case now in the supreme court will be outlined to the membership of the four railway brotherhoods in a special circular to be issued soon, brotherhood heads announced this afternoon. The statement says:

"While meeting with President Wilson last August we waived our request for time and a half for overtime which was fully fifty per cent of the original demand and at the suggestion of the president accepted his proposition."

"Our men believed that in so doing they would secure the eight-hour law. But the enactment of the Adamson law, effective January 1, 1917, made it necessary for them to wait until that time to find later that the railroad companies insisted on injunction proceedings against the enforcement of the law.

"The probability of additional litigation being commenced by the railroads even though the law is declared constitutional by the supreme court will seriously affect the congressional investigation thereby defeating the intent of the law and at the same time postponing the benefits furnished by the law which will unquestionably meet with general dissatisfaction among the membership of railroad brotherhoods.

"The entire situation is to be placed before the membership in a special circular."

The refusal of railroads to agree to operation of the Adamson law beginning Jan. 1 may cause small strikes on roads throughout the country, it was believed today. The employees insist on the law being put into force January 1. The railroads refused to accept the terms of the law until a decision has been given by the United States supreme court. Brotherhood heads fear strike action by individual members of the brotherhood.

FATHER CAN'T CARE FOR HIM

Capt. Thorpe of the Salvation Army has a little boy seven years old for whom he would like to find a good home. The boy's parents are living but his mother ran away with another man and secured a divorce. The father who lives here has given his consent to the Salvation Army people and asked them to place the boy in a home. Capt. Thorpe has already found a home for the boy's sister. The father is not able to care for the little fellow and even if he was, the home conditions are not such as would be best for the child.

Capt. Thorpe will give the boy to some family living either in the city or country. Persons interested are urged to see the captain at once.

U. S. POSITION MAY BE RELAXED

Indications are This Government
May Make Even More Concessions to Carranza

INCLUDING A WITHDRAWAL

Mexican First Chief Fails to Agree to Terms in Protocol Signed by Wilson

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 29.—That this government is about to relax its position in the Mexican situation and may make even more concessions to Carranza, including withdrawal of the Pershing column was the growing belief in official circles here today.

From Congressional circles came the suggestion this afternoon that General Pershing's column ought to be withdrawn.

Army men said there was no military reason for Pershing remaining in Mexico.

One more appeal for modification of the protocol providing for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico is made by Gen. Carranza in a message which has been delivered to Secretary Lane by Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican members of the joint commission.

The Mexican first chief replied to the insistent American demand that the protocol signed by his spokesmen at Atlantic City be ratified with an 800-word document in which he failed to accede to the demand, but refrained from writing anything that could be construed as a flat repudiation.

The latest suggestions for changes in the agreement now will be considered by the three American representatives—Secretary Lane, J. R. Mott and Judge George Gray. Secretary Lane advised his colleagues late today of the character of the reply and asked them to meet him here as soon as they conveniently could.

Early next week a joint session of the Mexican-American Commission will be held at which the Americans will give the Mexicans their answer and on its nature depends the future course of the commissioners who were directed more than four months ago to effect, if possible, the adjustment of questions at issue between the two countries. Neither Mr. Cabrera nor Secretary Lane would discuss the nature of Carranza's reply. Mr. Cabrera left for New York soon after its delivery, and Secretary Lane declined to reveal its character until it had been submitted to his colleagues. The same reticence was displayed at the Mexican Embassy.

It was learned that the Mexican commissioners were confident that no insuperable barrier had been raised by Carranza. It was asserted that the utmost care had been exercised to keep out of the reply any expressions or sentiments that might make the situation more complex or that would in any way offend the representatives of the American government. The chief insistence of Carranza has been that the American troops should be withdrawn unconditionally, which the American commissioners would not consider. It was indicated that Carranza's insistence on that point was less pronounced now and that the change in his attitude had been wrought largely by the altered military situation in northern Mexico.

There appeared reason to believe that one of the conditions to which Carranza now objects is that under which he would be obliged to garrison the territory evacuated by the Americans as they marched out. It was pointed out that since the protocol was drafted the increased activities of Villa and the steady

HOOSIER BRIEFS

Hartford City—Days of manufacturing colored glass in Hartford City are passed, according to officials of the Johnston Window Glass company, who declare that the weak supply of natural gas here has greatly hampered that work. Colored glass cannot be manufactured they say without natural gas.

Frankfort—The Frankfort Consumers Civic League, an organization to combat high prices has been formed.

Vincennes—Oil in large quantities has been found on a farm near Vincennes. Oil stands 1,200 feet in the well, which is 1,420 feet deep.

Newcastle—Employees of the city of Newcastle have been granted a voluntary increase in salary. The chief of Police and fire department will each receive an increase of $15 a month.

Columbia City—Whitley county's oasis, a small saloon at Peabody, which was burned, was restored when all of the carpenters in the county assembled at the place and wielded hammer and saw until a new building was erected.

Kokomo—Action will soon be taken on a petition presented to the council asking for the establishment of a municipal coal yard. The petition bore 900 signatures.

Terre Haute—When John Hinnton's foot slipped and he fell off the water wagon, he told the judge he would swear off again on Jan. 1. He was given another chance.

Wabash—Gunsmiths and hardware dealers here are doing a rushing business as a result of a series of hold-ups and robberies in this vicinity.

Kendallville—Employees of the city will welcome January 1, for it means an increase in their salaries. The increases was voted by the city council.

Crawfordsville—The council is considering the establishment of a municipal ice skating ring, as the result of the presentation of a petition by skating enthusiasts of this city.

Warsaw—Goshen, Warsaw and Plymouth proved a barren field to the Waldron theatrical troupe. City officials provided money for the women to return to their homes.

Kendallville—Side walks in Kendallville have been kept clean as a result of the ruling of the council that the walks with snow on in the morning will be cleaned by the city and charged to the property owner.

Terre Haute—The stork played a better hand in Terre Haute during 1916 than the grim reaper. Records show 1,095 births against 982 deaths.

Gary—City Council voted an issue of $60,000 bonds to be spent in the completion of a city park system.

MISTAKES NOW BEING RIGHTED

Great Britain Applies Lessons Learned During 1915 in Year Just Closing.

MUDDLING WILL BE STOPPED

Mistakes Prove Valuable Now and and Country Seems United Behind Lloyd George.

BY ED. L. KEEN,
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Dec. 20.—(By Mail)—John Bull spent a goodly portion of this year applying the lessons he learned last year.

The mistakes of 1915 were rather distressing at the time, but they proved excellent teachers. Being a backward pupil, as always, John Bull had to be driven, and the process was necessarily painful.

From the Dardanelles to Mesopotamia, from Nouve Chappelle to Loos, from Sofia to Athens, he blundered along, but, as subsequent history has demonstrated, all the time acquiring merit. Out of every strategic failure, every unfulfilled expectation, both military and political, he managed to learn something—and the lessons stuck.

First of all the lesson of centralized power in the direction of war, of internal government, of domestic economy and of efficiency, thoroughly learned, led him to put the man who above all others has done most for England—David Lloyd George—into a practical dictatorship over all those branches of British activity.

The Asquith cabinet, with its "muddling along" fell because British public opinion, almost solidly aligned behind "the little Welshman" demanded supreme efficiency in England's fight for life. Upon Lloyd George, the breaker of precedent, that he should sweep away nearly all the old ministerial machinery and substitute for loosely knit, slow moving, over-officered cabinet a small, compact war council of five members—and take this step with the eager acquiescence of John Bull.

And John Bull, who usually has to be driven, and who usually hates new-fangled things, showed the transformation in his character which the war has wrought by standing behind Lloyd George. By reason of his early unsuccessful adventures in the Near East he gathered invaluable knowledge in the matter of organization and equipment which he has this year applied in other quarters. As a result of the failure of his troops in the West in the Spring and Fall of 1915 to attain their desired objective he made certain changes in personnel, vastly improved his organization behind the lines, and above all learned that the only way seriously to dent the German front was with a preponderating supply of shot and shell.

In the field of diplomacy wherein the Germans at first cut circles all around him he is steadily improving. He lost Bulgaria to the Allied cause, but the experience he acquired in that process enabled him to gather in Rumania. Just now, by the fortunes of war, Rumania appears to be a doubtful military asset, if not a liability; but at the time unquestionably the enlistment of this country with the Allies was a diplomatic stroke of first importance.

It was entirely characteristic of John that although he knew Fritz had a 40 years' start of him in this military game he ignored Fritz's methods until they were forced upon him. But now, thanks to the hard knocks of 1915, there is very little more that Fritz can teach him.

Early in 1916 he adopted conscription. Had it been introduced a year before the war might have been over today. Englishmen have responded in unprecedented fashion to their King and country's call under their voluntary system, but it was only the certainty of ultimate conscription that finally brought the enrollment up to five million men.

strategy in general and to Haig's five loans both at home and in military genius in particular, as well as to the admitted improvement of Tommy as a fighting proposition, and the present superiority of the British air service, there is after all only one answer for the recent successes along the Somme and the Ancre—munitions. The lessons of Ypres, Neuve Chapeau, and Loos have been well learned.

Practically the whole of England's vast industrial resources, except those necessary for the supply of the civil population, have been mobilized for war purposes. Every factory in the land, if called upon, is required to devote at least part of its activities to turning out war material. The proportion of munitions now furnished by America and Japan has become almost negligible.

Moreover England is not merely supplying her own big armies. She has had to help out Russia, France, and Italy, especially the first named. It has been largely due to English guns and English shells that the Germans have been able to put the Germans on the defensive. Large quantities of English munitions were sent also to Rumania and the Serbian army would doubtless still be fighting for Monastir had it not been thoroughly re-equipped by Great Britain.

But this is not all. The munitions industry in this country is constantly growing. If the war should continue so long next year's figures will doubtless dwarf those of 1916 as these do last year's.

There is one realm in which Britain didn't have to take any lessons. As a banker John Bull is not merely comfortably well-heeled; he is an expert. The British government, despite its average expenditure of $25,000,000 a day since the war began, besides the tremendous contributions made to its friends, has had no difficulty at all in raising suc-

Finances and the navy are the least of Britain's troubles in this war, but recently the naval administration long under considerable fire, has experienced a shakeup. Arthur J. Balfour, whose regime as First Admiralty Lord was criticized, is now Foreign Secretary in the reorganized cabinet. The man who has stood the brunt of complaint for the recent German Channel raid and for lack of suppression of the Zeppelin menace, Admiral Jackson, was transferred from his post of First Sea Lord to the Admiral Poer.

Admirals Jellicoe and Beatty, to whom the British public gives credit for the glorious victory off the Jutland coast, advanced by the transfer. Jellicoe became First Sea Lord and Beatty commander of the grand fleet—the youngest man ever to hold that great post.

Opinions Clash.

The president did not attend the dinner which was recently given in Washington for Mr. Bryan; but he sent a letter, gracefully worded, though of no special importance.

In his speech to his hosts Mr. Bryan outlined the programme which he desires to have the democrats follow. He runs counter to the president in many ways. For instance, Mr. Bryan is for national prohibition and would commit his party to it. The president, on the other hand, is a state's right man and a local optionist. Mr. Bryan is for the enfranchisement of women by Federal action. The president wants the entire subject left to the action of the individual States. Mr. Bryan opposes the plan for a closer Federal regulation of the transportation interests. The president is moving upon congress for an extension of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. Bryan demands a change in the electoral system and wants the Constitution made more easy of amendment. The president has expressed no opinion on these subjects, though he is regarded as unfavorable to them.

It is by no means unlikely that Bryan and Wilson may find themselves in inevitable collision of opinion before two years are out. The subjects which Bryan would impose as cardinal doctrines upon the democratic party are subjects with which the President has scant sympathy or to which he is frankly opposed. His well-known facility for changing his mind may avail him in the case of a clash with his former secretary of state; but the present indications are for a sharply defined line of division.

Facing a deficit of $180,000,000 this year, national administration leaders are quarrelling over the method to be employed to raise additional revenue. Senate Majority Leader Kern wants a bond issue but President Wilson is reported not to be in favor of it. There is available only $200,000,000 which could be used for Panama canal bonds. It is hinted in some quarters that leaders are proposing that the income tax be lowered to include all those making $500 a year or more.

The actual loss in men in the war to date has been fifteen million. This is scarcely comprehensible, but some idea of the thing may be obtained by recalling that about eighteen million votes were cast in the last general election in the United States.

While we are speaking of the high cost of print paper—someone had Fred Landis' speech before the annual banquet of the Indiana Society of Chicago put in the Congressional Record.

Of course, it is nice for Henry Ford's employees to receive such big wages, but think how much they are losing since they have been laid off!

It will be no novelty for some of our young sports to watch the old year out and the new year in because they are generally up until after midnight anyway.

Now that everybody is talking of national defense let's have something besides talk.

An Appreciation of Winter

(Contributed.)

Now that Boreas has come roaring out of the north, blowing his icy breath upon the scene, covering the landscape with a mantle of snow, and placing us suddenly in the grip of winter, we are disposed to complain of its severity. Soaring coal prices, a shortage of gas, frozen water pipes and consequent plumbers bills are not conducive to pleasant thoughts, and we are disposed to rail against old winter who comes dressed in a coat of snow, and with an ice tip at the end of his blue nose.

But winter brings its beauties and blessings now less attractive in their way than those of summer, if only we have the eye to see, and the heart to treasure them. Now the earth is shrouded in a mantle of white, covering the ugly spots and unsightly places. The air, crisp, bracing and invigorating, encourages buoyancy of spirits; the creak of snow and ice under the feet of pedestrians and the wheels of vehicles; the noiseless movement of sleds, and the occasional tinkle of sleighbells; the joyous shouts of school children reveling in sports incident to the season are notes of harmony in the melody of winter. * * *

And there is the joy of long winter evening, when the fire burns brightly in the grate and books and magazines with freshly cut leaves are strewn in profusion upon the library table; when undisturbed hours of reading and study claim the attention, and occupy the mind of thoughtful, contented, normal people. Winter brings few joys or pleasures to the mentally poor, who must be amused, and who depend upon cheap shows and street corner assemblages for entertainment. Like certain other animals they hibernate, living in a state of inactivity, complaining of the hardships imposed by winter, and longing for the sunshine of summer to warm them back to life and revive the feeble activities of their dwarfed intellects.

Nature is full of compensations. She paints with a lavish hand the beauties of the varied seasons. Some morning when the temperature has subtracted a few points from zero mark on the thermometer, and you come shivering from bed, forget the momentary discomforts and stop to study the frost etchings on the window. There you will find landscape scenes distinctly executed in wonderful detail. Miniature mountains, hills, valleys, forests, ferns, flowers and shrubbery; lacy patterns of wonderful fabrics, all sketched and woven in a tracery more delicate and a finish more perfect than tiny brush of artist dare try to emulate. And as the sunlight filters through the window panes, the beauties of the fairy scene are magnified with tints and coloring that fascinate the beholder, and cause him to forget the cold and the rigors of winter. It is one of the many object lessons of the wondrous ways in which nature surrounds us at all times and in all seasons with her marvelous beauties and attractions. If we fail to see and appreciate them, the fault is ours, and not that of the Creator of all good and beautiful things.

Rushville, Ind., Dec. 27, 1916. Manager the Rushville Republican.

Dear Sir:—I was in to see some sick people living at 839 West Ninth street this morning and I felt it my duty to try to make public their condition. There are eight in the family—father, mother, grandmother and five little babies, the youngest only four days old, and they are all sick, with very little to eat and no fuel to burn. If someone doesn't help them, they surely will suffer worse than they are now. So if you will make known in your paper the terrible condition of this family, perhaps someone who can will help. If you doubt my word go to 839 West Ninth street and see.

Yours Truly,

We put it up to
Hundreds of Dentists

Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed Senreco to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially in its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhoea, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested Senreco from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis—

With practically one accord—said:

"Senreco appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen." "I cannot say too much for Senreco. It's one of the best I have used." "I can recommend Senreco as the best." "Makes the teeth glister and is free from injurious ingredients, including pumice and grit." "I am indeed glad to get a tooth paste that does the work." "Congratulate you on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc." (These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)

With such endorsements from the men who know; why not go to your dealer today and get a tube of SENRECO—25c. Keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and protect yourself against Pyorrhoea and decay.

A copy of the folder, "The Most General Disease in the World" together with a liberal trial size tube of SENRECO will be mailed you for 25c in stamps. The Sentinel Remedies Co., Inc. Dept. B, Masonic Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio.

LLOYD GEORGE MAKES AN APPEAL

Calls on American to Answer the Call of Destiny—Refers to International Law.

COMPARED WITH ROOSEVELT

Writer in Everybody's Writes of England's New Premier in Glowing Terms.

(By United Press.)

New York, Dec. 29.—An appeal to America from the British Premier, David Lloyd George, "to realize the call Destiny is making to her" for "the enforcement of International Law and International Rights" is contained in Isaac F. Marcosson's personal study of England's Prime Minister in the current issue of Everybody's Magazine.

"The hope of the world," said Lloyd George in his "message to America," "is that America will realize the call Destiny is making to her in tones that are getting louder and more insistent as these terrible months go by.

"That Destiny lies in the enforcement of respect for International law and International Rights."

"Throughout our talk," says Marcosson, "he had sat in a low chair, sometimes tilting it backwards as he swayed with the vehemence of his words. Suddenly (in recognition of Marcosson's question), he became still. He turned his head and looked dreamily out the window at his left, where he could see the throng of Whitehall as it swept back and forth along London's Great Military Way.

"Then, rising slowly and with eloquent gestures and trembling voice, (he might have been speaking to thousands instead of one person,) he gave me his message.

"It was a pregnant and unforgettable moment. From the throne room of a colossal conflict England's War Lord was sounding the note of a distant process of peace.

"If you had probed behind this kindling utterance you would have seen with Lloyd George himself that beyond the flaming battle-lines and past the tumult of a World at War was the hope of some far-away Tribunal that would judge nations and keep them, just as individuals are kept, in the path of right and humanity.

"But before any such bloodless antidote can be applied to International Dispute to quote Lloyd George again, 'This war must be fought to a finish.'

"These final words snapped like a whip-lash and emphasized with a fist beat on the table, meant that England would see her Titan Task through, and if for no other reason, because the man who drives the war-gods wills it so.

"What sort of man is this who goes from post to post with inspired faith and unfailing execution? What are the qualities that have lifted him from obscure provincial solicitor to be the Prop of a People

"Reducing the wizard Welshman to a formula, you find that he is fifty percent Roosevelt in the virility and forcefulness of his character; fifteen per cent. Bryan in the purely demagogic phase of his make-up, while the rest is canny Celt opportunism. It makes a dazzling and well-night irresistible composite.

"It is with Roosevelt that the best and happiest comparison can be made. Indeed, I know no more convincing interpretation of the thing that is Lloyd George than to point this live parallel. For Lloyd George is the British Roosevelt—the Imperial Rough-Rider. Instead of using the Big Stick, he employs the Big Voice. No two leaders ever had so much in common.

"Each is more of an institution than a mere man; each dramatizes himself in everything he does; each has a genius for the benevolent assimilation of idea and fact. They are both persistent but brilliant "crankers." Trust Lloyd George to know all about the man who comes to see him, whether he is statesman, author, explorer, or plain captain of industry. It is one of the reasons why he maintains his amazing political hold.

"Lloyd George has Roosevelt's striking gift of phrase-making, although he does not share the Amer-

CUBS MANAGER AFTER PITCHERS

Lets it be Known That he Will Improve This End of Game for Chicago Team

COULDN'T BE MUCH WORSE

Stallings Says Mitchell Is Best Man Weegham Could Have Secured for Job

By H. C. HAMILTON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Dec. 29.—Just before shaking the dust of New York off his feet and beating it for solicitude to think over his task of remaking the Cubs, Fred Mitchell, the new manager picked off by Charles H. Weegham, gave it out that one thing is certain when the former smashers of the National league get going again.

"We will have the best pitching staff in the league before many seasons have passed," Mitchell declared, "and I expect to improve it greatly before the end of next season. I don't expect to win a pennant next summer, but we'll not finish last, either."

Mitchell was making no idle boast when he announced that he expected to improve the Cub pitchers. He'd have to be pretty bad to make them look worse. But it is true that in all this country of baseball clubs there is not a man who has had more success in developing pitchers than Fred Mitchell. The magnificent array of the Braves is sufficient evidence that he knows his business.

Mitchell was a pitcher when he first started his career, and he formed part of the staff with which Connie Mack hoisted himself into his first American league pennant. He was later with the Phillies and then was released to Brooklyn. At the end of the 1915 season his arm began to fail and Mitchell was switched to Toronto.

jean's love of letter-writing. As I have already intimated, whatever may be his future, Lloyd George will never be confronted by accusing epistle. None exists.

"Like Roosevelt, Lloyd George is pastmaster in the art of effective publicity. He has a monopoly on the British front page. Each of these remarkable men projects the fire and magnetism of his dynamic personality. Curiously enough, each one has been the terror of the Corporate. Evil-doers—the conspicuous target of Big Business in his respective country. Each one is a dictator in the making, and it is safe to assume that if Lloyd George lived in a republic, like Roosevelt he would say: "My Army," "My Navy," and "My Policies."

"Roosevelt, however, has one distinct advantage over his British colleague in that he is a deeper student and has a wider learning.

"In one God-given gift Lloyd George surpasses not only Roosevelt, but every other man I have ever met. It is an inspired oratory that is at once the wonder and the admiration of all who hear it. He is in many respects the greatest speaker of his day—the one man of his race whose utterance immediately becomes world property. The stage last a great star when the Welsh David went into politics. There are those who say that he acts all the time, but that is a matter of opinion dictated by partisan or self-interest.

"Lloyd George is what we in America, and especially those of us born in the South, call the "Silver-tongued." His whole style of delivery is emotional, and greatly resembles the technique of the Breckinridge-Waterson School. In his voice is the soft, melodious lilt of the Welsh, which greatly adds to the attractiveness of his speech.

"For the public he is always even-tempered and amiable, serene and smiling, quick to capitalize interruption and drive home the chance remark. He invariably establishes friendly relations with his hearers, and he has the extraordinary ability to make every man and woman in the audience before him believe that he is getting a direct and personal message."

SOCIETY

A dinner-dance will be given at the Social Club on Tuesday evening following New Years.

The Christmas party for the members of the R. C. S. Club is being held this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kenner.

Mrs. Lenore Blackidge was the guest of Mrs. Edgar Michener of Connersville yesterday afternoon and attended the joint meeting of the Musicales last evening.

The meeting of the Coterie Club, which was to have been held with Mrs. C. M. George on Monday afternoon, has been postponed for two weeks when it will be with the same hostess.

Miss Letha Higgins and Miss Helen Thomas left today for Newcastle, where they will attend a house party over the week-end, being given by Miss Marian Mann.

Miss Edith Buell of this city and Russel Gray of Mauzy attended the Christmas dance given in the K. of P. hall in Connersville on Wednesday evening by the members of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity.

About a dozen of their girl friends are being entertained by Miss Beatrice Reeve and Miss Gladys Bebout at dinner this evening at the home of Miss Reeve in North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Manlief entertained at their home in East Tenth street last evening when the 12 members of the degree staff of R. N. A. were the guests. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music, at the close of which dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Kathleen Hogsett and Harold Bever spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Norris of Carthage after which they went to Newcastle and will attend the dance there this evening. Miss Hogsett is the guest of Miss Bernice Burgess and will remain until the first of next week.

Honoring Robert Ables, who is home from the navy spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Nina Lewis, was the honor guest at the luncheon given at noon today by James C. Amos at his home in North Harrison street. Covers at the prettily decorated table were laid for twelve guests.

About 125 couples, with Kappa Alpha Phis, from all over the state, danced at the Claypool last evening in Indianapolis at the annual fraternity ball. The party was given in the Riley room and music was furnished by the six-piece Reginald Devall orchestra. From this city the following guests attended, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Capp, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gunning, Posey Denning, Denning Havens, Miss Edith Wilk and Miss Alleine Budd.

Miss Helen Dugan was pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of her friends in honor of her birthday which was celebrated in this manner. The young people spent the evening in playing games and dancing after which refreshments were served. In the party thus honoring Miss Dugan were the Misses Lucile and Lillian Cummins of Peru, Hazel Stoops, Muriella Roth of Connersville, Gladys Bebout, and Margaret Cooning and Harold Perkins, Howard Breechisen, Everett Oakley, Ed Meredith and Duane Reed.

The Shakespeare Club will open the interesting series of programs for the year with the meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of the Misses Mary and Nora Sleeth when they will be assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Donald Smith. Preparatory to the lecture to be given later in the month by Prof. Jenkins, the program Tuesday evening will be on Count Leo Tolstoi. His life will be discussed by Miss Kathryn Petry and Miss Anna Bohannon and "Anna Karenina" will be reviewed by Miss Pearl Kitchen.

About 24 of the friends of Miss Dorothy Sparks will gather at her home in North Main street on Sunday evening to watch the old year out.

The Christmas dance given by the K. of P.'s for the members of their families in their beautiful dance hall last evening was extremely well attended. Forty-seven couples were present to enjoy one of the most pleasant parties of the winter. The music was unusually good. Mitchell's three piece orchestra, including a saxophone and with Miss Hilda Linstrum at the piano, played for the program of dances. Miss Hester Porter of Shelbyville and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood were among the dancers.

The members of the Evening Card Club will observe the New Year by having a pitch-in dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rutherford in North Main street, on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Miller of North Perkins street had as guests today, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Senior of Terre Haute, who have just returned from a visit with Mr. Senior's relatives in Brookville, and Mrs. Martha Cowan of Milroy.

The possibilities of having an opening meeting in the spring will be discussed at the meeting of the Woman's Council to be held in the director's room of the Rushville National Bank on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It will be in a form of a civic meeting when improvements for the city will be discussed. A financial report showing the standing of the organization and the visiting nurse fund since the organization has had it in charge will be given.

Old schoolmates formed the majority of the party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boon Powers in North Morgan St. today when a group of long-time friends gathered for an all-day visit together. The dinner served at noon was a pitch-in affair and was a bountiful one, indeed. The center of the table bore a small Christmas tree on which were favors for each of the guests. In the company were Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Norris, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Norris of Carthage, Mrs. Gilbert and son Alfred, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cline, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Newhouse, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Parry, Mrs. Fanny Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whaley of Milroy.

Will Merrill entertained the members of the S. O. D. H. Club with a merry holiday party last evening at his home, southwest of the city. In the fun-making contests, Miss Rema Mahin and Miss Letha Hungerford were the winners. Games were played and light refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be with W. A. Mull, southwest of the city on Thursday evening. Members of the club attending the pleasant gathering last evening were the Misses Frances Thompson, Rema Mahin, Bertha Halterman, Carrie Halterman, Maude Green, Ruth Halterman, Edith Hungerford, Zeola Merrill, Myrtle Ormes, Letha Hungerford, Louisa Mahin and Retta Alter, Watson Miller, Frank Webb, Ralph Hill, Paul Hungerford, Herbert Brown, Tinsel Merrill, Alin Ormes and Fred Mahin.

The program planned by the members of the Connersville Musicals for the members of the local Musicals who were their guests last evening was a polished musical treat. The evenings entertainment was at the home of Mrs. Clarence Waldron in Central Avenue and consisted of a varied program of du piano numbers, vocal selections, violin solos, and readings. With favors and decorations suggestive of the Yuletide, the home was decorated. The season was also suggested in the delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream, in the molds of Santa Claus and his brownies and cakes. On April 2nd, the Connersville organization will be entertained by the Ladies Musicals of this city. Thirteen Rushville ladies attended last evening while there were about 35 of their hostesses.

The holiday meeting of the Grand Club was held with Mrs. A. L. Rigg at her home in North Perkins street yesterday afternoon when the twelve members of the club spent the afternoon engaged in interesting Bridge games. The two course dinner was served at the dining table which was centered with a bouquet of carnations and narcissus. Later the husbands of several of the members were invited in for dinner.

The Christmas dance given by the K. of P.'s for the members of their families in their beautiful dance hall last evening was extremely well attended. Forty-seven couples were present to enjoy one of the most pleasant parties of the winter. The music was unusually good. Mitchell's three piece orchestra, including a saxophone and with Miss Hilda Linstrum at the piano, played for the program of dances. Miss Hester Porter of Shelbyville and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood were among the dancers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Williams were greatly surprised last evening when a number of friends and neighbors from New Salem, their former home, came in and surprised them. The seven piece orchestra, made up among the guests, aided greatly in the pleasure of the affair. Refreshments were served during the social good time that was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Farrington, Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Metcalf, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Ricketts and son, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williams and family, Mrs. M. L. Stewart and daughter, Ruby, Miss Anna Williams, Mr. and Mrs. William Smitha, Leslie Smitha, O. P. Wamsley, Chester Jinks and Jesse Stevens.

The Social Club was the scene for one of the most delightful social functions in the history of Psi Iota Xi last evening when practically every member of the sorority gathered about the long table set in the dining hall for the anniversary banquet which marked the 8th year of the founding of the sorority. Bud vases containing narcissus, and yellow candles in crystal holders alternated down the center of the table at which the elegant three course turkey dinner was served. Preceding the service of the meal, the sorority song was sung, and afterwards each guest chose a gift from the immense basket that contained a remembrance for each one. Included in the group of girls, some returned from college, some active members and other members of the sorority from out of the city were Mrs. George Dehorty, Elwood, Mrs. Reeves Wood of Arlington, Mrs. Fred Arbuckle, the Misses Laura Holden, Alma Green, Hannah Morris, Marie Clawson, Phyllis Dean, Gladys Bebout, Gladys Titsworth, Dorothy Frazee, Jean McClanahan, Marian Scholl, Wanda Wyatt, Beatrice Reeve, Leah Flint, Belma and Jeanette Clark, Marguerite Wolcott, Harriet Vredenburg, Louise Craig, Erema Wilk, Marian Titsworth, Frances Frazee, Frances Neutzner, Mrs. Ben Humes, Miss Marian Sparks and Miss Gladys Wallace.

Press Agent Henry Swinehart, who engineered the affair that started the joint Congressional audience on that otherwise peaceful day, admitted today the Union has about given up hope of getting back its banner.

GERMAN TERMS UNKNOWN
(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 28.—Germany's answer to President Wilson's peace note reached the state department today. It announced that nothing confidential was attached to the answer. It had been suggested that Germany might give her terms secretly in an accompanying message to Ambassador Gerard for transmission here.

300 PERSONS PERISH
Tokio, Dec. 29.—Three hundred persons, mostly Chinese laborers perished in the wreck of the San-kaku Maru, according to estimates today. Some of the victims were killed by Chinese pirates who boarded the grounded ship, plundered its passengers and stores and assaulted those aboard. Because of the high seas all attempts at rescue failed at first.

TODAY'S HOOISER ODDITY
Rockport, Ind., Dec. 29.—A pecan tree, which was more than 400 years old, according to Lubberman who counted the rings, was felled at Grandview. The tree was forty-eight feet from the ground to the first limb. One leg cut from the tree was six feet in diameter.

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 29.—Barns of the Toronto Street Railway were destroyed by fire today with a loss estimated at nearly a million dollars. Three hundred cars were de-

SUFFS TRYING TO LOCATE FLAG

Members of Congressional Union Want Their Banner Which Was Taken From Halls of Congress.

GRIDIRONERS HAD IT LAST

They Plead That They Want It For Background of Picture to be Taken Soon.

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 29.—Who got the button, Ann's age, and who hit Billy Patterson probably will all be solved before the National Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage finds out who got the banner they swung before President Wilson from the House gallery. Also the question of where it is now.

Press Agent Henry Swinehart, who engineered the affair that started the joint Congressional audience on that otherwise peaceful day, admitted today the Union has about given up hope of getting back its banner.

The day after its appearance in the House, those who flung it to the legislative breeze only to have it unceremoniously jerked to earth, went to the sergeant-at-arms' office to get it back. They failed to do so.

The next heard of the now historic emblem was at the Gridiron dinner several Saturday nights back, when the Gridironers pulled a burlesque of the incident while the President was addressing them. The same banner was used in the burlesque.

News of this event gave Congressional Union officials hope. They buttonholed every Gridiron Club member they knew and some they didn't. They pleaded they wanted the grand old flag to use as a background when they were photographed in their new home upon the occasion of dedicating it. They did not get it.

CLAIMS GRAIN TRUST BUNS

Alleges Argentine Farmers Lose Huge Sums.

Buenos Aires, Nov. 26.—(By Mail)—"Wake up, Argentina, and build grain elevators," urged Gert T. Holm, a Swedish-Argentine and foremost cereal expert in the republic, in an appeal today to the country's farmers.

Holm estimates that these farmers lose $200,000,000 annually to the "grain trust" through lack of storage facilities, which compels them to market their products in a hurry and on whatever terms the trust dictates. He places the members of the trust at not more than five concerns, who do have some elevators of their own but who use them, he asserts, entirely for their own benefit. The plan he favors is government construction of elevators.

USES MAIL POUCH.

Alexandria, Ind., Dec. 29.—James Griffin, a rural mail carrier, saw a rabbit run under a small drain tile. He placed a mail sack over one end of the culvert and with a long stick, got at the other end and drove the rabbit into the pouch.

GOING IT TOO HARD

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for much kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Frank McFarland, 830 W. 10th St., Rushville, says: "Last winter my kidneys began to get weak and in a short time I was so bad off that I could hardly be about. My back was in terrible shape. It ached so severely especially at night, that I could hardly sleep and in the morning, it was stiff. If I bent over, I could hardly straighten up again. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and highly colored. Another of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills with such good success that I got a box at Johnson's Drug Store. They helped me and I kept on using them until cured."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mr. McFarland. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—(Adv.)

TODAY'S FISH RECIPE.

Take two cups of cold fish, had furnished by Dr. H. E. Barnard.

Scalloped Fish

cod, cod, carp, hake or any kind will do; one and one half cups of milk, a slice of onion; three tablespoons of butter; three tablespoons of flour; a half teaspoon of salt; a little pepper; a half cup of buttered crumbs; and some spices, preferably a little mace and bay leaf.

Scald the milk with onion and spices. Then remove the seasonings; melt the butter, add the flour, salt and pepper and gradually add this to the milk. Boil this for three minutes. Put one-half the fish into a buttered baking dish and pour half the milk sauce over it. Put the rest of the fish over this and pour in the rest of the sauce. Cover this with the crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown.

A Fascinating Subject

After we have graduated from school or college we are apt to believe erroneously that we know about all there is to know. One study, however, we may pursue advantageously as long as life, no matter how much we have learned. It is the study of human nature.

Have you ever been in a crowded subway or elevated train? Have you ever watched the hurrying, jostling crowd, and smiled over the different expressions, some of dismay, and others of good humor, as the overworked guard attempted to close out others who were pushing their way in? And have you not learned something of value about people each time?

An absorbing study is human nature. One that invites the deepest observation and study.

Someone has said, "The study of human nature is all-right, but when one studies it to excess one is likely to become discouraged over the character of the race."

Of course that may follow with some people. They are the ones who are so full of human nature themselves that they are overwhelmed by its more disagreeable moods.

There are many undesirable natures in the world. But on the other hand thousands more—yes, hundreds of thousands more—are well-intentioned, upright and noble.

And let me whisper a secret in your ear—the unspoken recognition of faults in others may help you to correct similar flaws in your own make-up. That alone would make it worth while, would it not?

Cultivate the study of human nature, friends. Read it and weigh it down compare it with your own. Unless I am much mistaken you will profit thereby to no small extent. At least you will if you search for the best there is in it.

REGIMENT MUSTERED OUT

Third Indiana Goes Home After Serving Six Months.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—The third Indiana Infantry which has been quartered at Ft. Benjamin Harrison since early in December, was mustered out today. The men were in service six months; five of which was spent on the Mexican border.

Capt. T. L. Hunsler was in charge of mustering out the men. They were given their pay and allowed to depart for their homes immediately after the mustering out formalities were concluded.

Col. Aubrey D. Kuhlman was the chief officer of the Third. The companies were recruited in Northern Indiana cities.

TALKS ON HOME RULE.

Columbus, Ind., Dec. 29.—John A. Lapp of the legislature reference bureau, spoke before the annual meeting of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce here today on home rule for cities. He explained the tendency toward establishing commission forms of government in cities, for which no provision has been made in Indiana.

It is a fact that with the exception of about three Indiana cities, the liquor laws have been rigidly observed since the passage of the Proctor act in 1911. In all places where the law is so observed the public seems more than satisfied with conditions.

Were dry, voted wet—Muncie, 30 saloons, Greensburg, 6 saloons.

Were wet, went dry—Columbus, City 4, saloons, Booneville 7, saloons; Greenfield 6 saloons, seventy saloons in the First and Fourth wards in Indianapolis were forced out of business by remonstrances. One township voted wet and one went dry by remonstrance.

BOTH FACTIONS ARE CONFIDENT

Wet and Dry Forces of State Believe They will be Successful in Coming Year.

PAST YEAR HAD BEEN DRAW

Brewers' Association is Satisfied With Work Which Has Been Along Educational Lines.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—With the score for 1916 running about even, leaders of the wet and dry factions in Indiana today predicted success for their side of the question during 1917, in statements made to the United Press today.

"The year of 1916 has been a very satisfactory one as far as our industry is concerned," said James C. Kelley, secretary of the Indiana Brewers' association. "Cities have voted wet and dry but the balance is about even. The most significant thing about the elections during the year is that Muncie, the largest so-called dry city in the state, returned to the license column.

"The efforts of this association have been directed toward educational work and law enforcement. Efforts in one or two localities for a time, seemed fruitless, but sentiment is now compelling a strict enforcement of the law.

"It is a fact that with the exception of about three Indiana cities, the liquor laws have been rigidly observed since the passage of the Proctor act in 1911. In all places where the law is so observed the public seems more than satisfied with conditions."

Germans Attack Along a Two-Mile Front Around Dead Man's Hill—French Counter Attack.

FELL INTO TRAP, PARIS SAYS

(By United Press.) London, Dec. 29—Germans launched a sudden offensive on the west front, according to today's war office statement. The attack was on a front of two miles around the famous Dead Man's Hill. The first, second and third line trenches around Dead Man's Hill were penetrated, Berlin announced. German soldiers held the positions against French counter attacks. The taking of 200 prisoners was announced.

Paris declared that the attack failed, a small number of Germans penetrating a French trap.

LIKELY NOT TO END
THE WAR AT ONCE

Peace Efforts Probably Will Not Get Results Until Another Big Struggle is Staged

ALLIES MAKE PREPARATIONS

By CARL W. ACKERMAN (U. P. Staff Correspondent.) Berlin (Via Wireless to the United Press) Dec. 29.—Judging from reports from the front and diplomatic comments the peace efforts that President Wilson, the central powers and Switzerland are now making will not succeed immediately in bringing the war to an end.

That the war will not end without the allies making another gigantic concentrated effort to break the German front is indicated by the itinerary preparations which are being made.

The allies apparently expect to accept Von Hindenberg's challenge for winter battle.

When these battles begin peace talk probably will subside to await the outcome of the struggles.

FORWARD PEACE NOTES

Scandinavian Nations Join United States and Switzerland

(By United Press.) London, Dec. 29.—The Scandinavian nations have forwarded peace notes to the European belligerents, according to a Copenhagen dispatch today.

Although Swedish dispatches yesterday said that government had denied sending a peace note, all available information in London today tended to confirm the report that the note had been sent.

Ruth Ryon Brings Replevin Against Husband and His Parents

Alleging that her husband and his parents are keeping her clothing and personal effects in their possession without right, Mrs. Ruth Ryon this afternoon filed a replevin suit against Elmer Ryon, her husband, and his parents, John Ryon and Della Ryon. Mrs. Ryon recently filed a divorce suit against Elmer Ryon. In the complaint for replevin she claims that the defendants refuse to give her such personal belongings as a navy blue jacket, a hat, a pair of shoes and numerous pieces of furniture. Mrs. Ryon is a minor and the action is brought by her father, Mat Beaver, as her next friend. A. L. Gary represents the plaintiff.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY JAN. 7

On Same Day the Rev. M. C. Pearson Will Address Men's Meeting.

Sunday, January 7, will be observed as "Go To Church Sunday" by the Protestant churches of Rushville and special sermons will be preached by all of the pastors. On the afternoon of the same day a men's meeting will be held and will be addressed by the Rev. Morton C. Pearson, secretary of the Indianapolis Church Federation. The place has not been determined.

A union watch meeting will be held on Sunday night to usher in the special week of prayer union services. It was to be held at the First Baptist church, but that edifice will not be ready and it will be held at the First Presbyterian church instead.

W. C. McGuire and W. B. Shood Open Offices in Indianapolis

William C. McGuire, formerly of Rushville, and Wilbur B. Shood, formerly with Herbert Foltz, architect of Indianapolis, have opened offices at suite 336, Indiana Pythian building, Indianapolis, for the practice of architecture, under the firm name of McGuire and Shood. Mr. McGuire was associated in the design and supervised construction of the Peoples National bank building, the Masonic temple, New Salem school and the George C. Wyatt & Co., building in and near Rushville, the Indiana Masonic home at Frankfort and other work throughout the state. Mr. Shood has a university training and wide experience in architectural design on important work in Indiana.

With Arraignment of Three More
Arlington Men, Number of Indictments Accounted For is 42.

ONLY THREE TO BE ARRESTED

Arlington Indictments Indicate That
Many There Celebrated Election
Too Boisterously.

The final touches have about been placed on the grand jury clean-up as far as actual arrests are concerned. With the arraignment of three more men from Arlington this morning the total number of indictments accounted for totals 42, leaving only three yet to be arrested. It is believed that at least one of the men wanted is out of the state and that another will return within a few days.

The Arlington crowd all pleaded guilty, bringing the total number of convictions up to twelve. The rest of the men will stand trial. The past two days have been busy ones for court officials handling the criminal business. Sheriff Cavit has brought the men in just as fast as they could be located. Thirteen men were brought into court yesterday, nine the day before and three today.

The additional Arlington arrests were Claude McDaniel, charged with public intoxication and assault and battery; Knowles Beckner and Jacob Reeves, charged with public intoxication. All entered pleas of guilty. Judge Sparks assessed the minimum fine of $1 and costs in the intoxication charges.

McDaniel was charged with assault and battery on his daughter, Hilda McDaniel. McDaniel pleaded guilty to the charge and out of sympathy for his family the court suspended the sentence of $1 and costs and six months on the penal farm. The girl is about seventeen years old and McDaniel stated that she was frequently so rude and unmanageable that he was compelled to whip her. Judge Sparks told him that there were other ways of correcting the child without being brutal. The fine of $1 and costs on the intoxication charge was also suspended pending good behavior.

It will be recalled that Arlington did a lot of celebrating along about election time and the indictments against the men for public intoxication indicate that the wrong-doing reached its climax about this time.

The indictments all charge the men with being intoxicated on dates ranging from Nov. 4 to Nov. 9.

The men were charged with being in the pool room of Robert Gilson and Gilson himself pleaded guilty to being drunk. It was stated that the drinking in Arlington was the most common on Saturdays and reached its highest point along about election time. The victory of Woodrow Wilson was rather expensive for a number of the men, it is pointed out, because of the number of pleas of guilty.

According to statements made since the pleas were entered, the pool room was the "hanging-out place" of this element and the disturbances became so great that the attention of the grand jury was called to conditions. Gilson pleaded guilty to five of six charges and made arrangements to stay his fines, amounting in all to $92.50. The charges against Gilson included one for selling cigarettes to minors, the first ever returned here for this. The grand jury meets again on January 8 and it is estimated that similar charges may be brought against others.

Following the suggestions of the republican state committee, the members of the republican central committee representing the precincts wholly or touching in the city of Rushville will meet next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the court house assembly room for the purpose of organizing for the city campaign.

Under the primary election law, those members of the county committee whose precincts either are wholly in Rushville or reach within the city limits become the city committee. According to the law they are to meet at a fixed time and elect a chairman, vice-chairman and a treasurer. The time has been fixed for Tuesday night at seven-thirty o'clock.

Grand Gregg, who was city chairman in the city campaign of 1913 and who acts in this capacity until his successor is named, has issued the call for the meeting. The meeting is not confined merely to the committeemen but any republican interested can attend. The suggestion of the state committee will be followed in organizing for the coming campaign.

No names have been mentioned in connection with the city chairmanship or other offices and it is considered likely that Mr. Gregg will again be named. Mr. Gregg conducted a highly satisfactory campaign in 1913, redeeming the city to the republicans. An effort will be made to get an efficient organization. The county precinct committeemen living in the city or whose precincts touch the city are urged to attend the meeting Tuesday night as the organization is over half the battle.

As far as can be learned the democrats of the city have made no arrangements for perfecting their organization in the city. Just what plan they will follow it not known.

With the primary scheduled for March candidates for city offices have been slow to announce. The candidates will probably wait until after the first of the year. Thus far no names have been mentioned for mayor and only one or two for city clerk and none of these is definite. Because of the pay and amount of work involved it is always difficult to get men to run for the council.

Because of the primary law, the organization of the city committee is different from that ever conducted before. Heretofore the six precinct committee of the three wards in the city have composed the city committee and have organized it.

These six committeemen will serve again in the city election next fall but all of the ten precinct committeemen in the township will participate in the committee organization because the "call" from the state central committee says all committeemen whose precincts lie wholly or touch the city shall help effect the organization. It so happens that every one of the precincts of the committeemen chosen at the primary last March either are situated wholly within the city or are partly within the city.

R. F. Stewart, postal inspector for this district with headquarters in Indianapolis, has been in Milroy investigating the situation relative to the appointment of a postmaster to succeed James R. Sage, who resigned to take effect Dec. 15. Upon the recommendations of the inspector largely depends who will get the Milroy plum.

The Milroy postoffice muddle has furnished plenty of talk and excitement for that town and today it is the main topic of conversation. The community has taken sides and each has its favorite candidate. When Sage resigned Congressman Gray announced that he would recommend the appointment of James Spillman. This brought a storm of protest from the patrons of the office.

The congressman evidently heeded the protests for he then announced that he would recommend the appointment of Mrs. Sage, wife of the postmaster, and her name was sent to the senate by President Wilson for confirmation. At this stage of the game the postoffice department stepped into the proceedings by asking the senate to hold up the appointment until an investigation could be made. The postoffice department stated that the appointment was against the department's policy to make appointments to fill out unexpired terms. Sage has over a year to serve and the department objected to filling out the unexpired term by appointment.

The controversy resulted in the sending of Inspector Stewart to the town for the purpose of looking over the situation. Inspector Stewart talked to all of the candidates and a lot of disinterested parties, but when it came to talking he was like a clam and absolutely refused to commit himself. The report is expected in a few days.

In the meantime while the people are waiting for the postoffice department to take some action other candidates have entered the race and petitions are being circulated in an effort to land the job. Besides Mrs. Sage and James Spillman, M. A. Poisal is said to be an avowed candidate and H. B. Wilson, former principal of the Rushville high school, is said to be in a receptive mood.

All of the candidates have their friends and there never was more interest taken in a postoffice right in Milroy than is being displayed now.

OBSERVANCE TO BE SAME
Postoffice Will Close at 10 A. M.
Monday and One Delivery

The postoffice will observe New Year's day as a holiday in the usual manner. The route carriers will not make a delivery. There will be one city delivery and one parson post delivery and the office will close at ten o'clock in the morning for the balance of the day. Outside of the postoffice and banks the day will not be generally observed here. A few of the stores will close but for the most part business will be carried on as usual. The county offices will be open as usual and the day will not be observed in the court house.

(By United Press.)
Washington, Dec. 29.—R. K. Henry, chairman of the house committee on rules, wired Thomas W. Lawson at New York today asking him to come to Washington at once for a conference if he has any information regarding "leaks" to Wall Street on President Wilson's peace note. In his telegram Henry said:

"Instead of trying to bring this peace movement into disrepute you as a patriotic citizen should defend it. If you have any proof which I doubt come to Washington and confer with me immediately."

Henry after sending the telegram said: "If Mr. Lawson states the truth about Wall Street and alleged 'leaks' it shows that the bill to regulate the New York Stock Exchange should be speedily passed and should be made even more drastic. I shall reintroduce the bill next Tuesday."

Washington, Dec. 29.—The Banquo's ghost of the opening days of Congress after the holiday recess will be the Wood resolution calling for an investigation of the "leak" of the president's peace note, by means of which so many small investors in the stock market were ruined and a few "big men" made millions.

Congress adjourned with the majority leaders in a contemptuous mood toward the Wood resolution.

They thought they could easily smother it in committee. But now they know better. They may still attempt to smother the inquiry, but they will have to listen to some very plain talk on the floor of the house before that is done. In the present instance Washington gossip is much more explicit than usual, and names are mentioned with larger freedom than is generally the case when high officialdom is thought to have "put one over." There are too many wounded small investors among the constituents of the representatives who will not follow the advice which the late Senator Quay once gave to an aggrieved henchman to "suffer in silence." They are being heard from and the tenor of their demand is to find out who leaked.

For more than six months there have been ugly rumors afloat in Washington to the effect that a few persons who can pretend to an opportunity of intimacy with the president have been heavily "in the market" that their takings of profits have been far from negligible, and that their operations on the board have been aided, no little by advance information which they have been able to secure regarding the purposes of the administration. So long as the market was headed upward and everyone was getting his bit of the profits there was no inclination on the part of anyone, except a few stern moralists, to interfere. With cynical good humor, the investing public shrugged its shoulders when these minor suggestions were broached—and turned to latest quotations.

But now the wounded birds are fluttering in every financial dove-cote and their cooing has changed to an anguished screech. If you or three hundred thousand small investors all over the country who have lost money in the recent losses (Continued on Page 4)

(By United Press.)
Washington, Dec. 29.—The entire situation raised by the Adamson eight-hour law and the test case now in the supreme court will be outlined to the membership of the four railway brotherhoods in a special circular to be issued soon, brotherhood heads announced this afternoon. The statement says:

"While meeting with President Wilson last August we waived our request for time and a half for overtime which was fully fifty per cent of the original demand and at the suggestion of the president accepted his proposition.

"Our men believed that in so doing they would secure the eight-hour law. But the enactment of the Adamson law, effective January 1, 1917, made it necessary for them to wait until that time to find later that the railroad companies insisted on injunction proceedings against the government enforcement of the law.

"The probability of additional litigation being commenced by the railroads even though the law is declared constitutional by the supreme court will seriously affect the congressional investigation thereby defeating the intent of the law and at the same time postponing the benefits furnished by the law which will unquestionably meet with general dissatisfaction among the membership of railroad brotherhoods.

"The entire situation is to be placed before the membership in a special circular."

The refusal of railroads to agree to operation of the Adamson law beginning Jan. 1 may cause small strikes on roads throughout the country, it was believed today. The employees insist on the law being put into force January 1. The railroads refused to accept the terms of the law until a decision has been given by the United States supreme court.

Brotherhood heads fear strike action by individual members of the brotherhood.

Capt. Thorpe of the Salvation Army has a little boy seven years old for whom he would like to find a good home. The boy's parents are living but his mother ran away with another man and secured a divorce. The father who lives here has given his consent to the Salvation Army people and asked them to place the boy in a home. Capt. Thorpe has already found a home for the boy's sister. The father is not able to care for the little fellow and even if he was, the home conditions are not such as would be best for the child.

Capt. Thorpe will give the boy to some family living either in the city or country. Persons interested are urged to see the captain at once.

Miss Leah Brown who was operated on for appendicitis several weeks ago was able to be removed to the home of her father, Jacob Brown of New Salem today.

HOOSIER BRIEFS

Hartford City—Days of manufacturing colored glass in Hartford City are passed, according to officials of the Johnston Window Glass company, who declare that the weak supply of natural gas here has greatly hampered that work. Colored glass cannot be manufactured they say without natural gas.

Frankfort—The Frankfort Consumers Civic League, an organization to combat high prices has been formed.

Vincennes—Oil in large quantities has been found on a farm near Vincennes. Oil stands 1,200 feet in the well, which is 1,420 feet deep.

Newcastle—Employees of the city of Newcastle have been granted a voluntary increase in salary. The chief of Police and fire department will each receive an increase of $15 a month.

Columbia City—Whitley county's oasis, a small saloon at Peabody, which was burned, was restored when all of the carpenters in the county assembled at the place and wielded hammer and saw until a new building was erected.

Kokomo—Action will soon be taken on a petition presented to the council asking for the establishment of a municipal coal yard. The petition bore 900 signatures.

Terre Haute—When John Hinton's foot slipped and he fell off the water wagon, he told the judge he would swear off again on Jan. 1. He was given another chance.

Wabash—Gunsmiths and hardware dealers here are doing a rushing business as a result of a series of hold-ups and robberies in this vicinity.

Kendallville—Employees of the city will welcome January 1, for it means an increase in their salaries. The increases was voted by the city council.

Crawfordsville—The council is considering the establishment of a municipal ice skating ring, as the result of the presentation of a petition by skating enthusiasts of this city.

Warsaw—Goshen, Warsaw and Plymouth proved a barren field to the Waldron theatrical troupe. City of officials provided money for the women to return to their homes.

Kendallville—Side walks in Kendallville have been kept clean as a result of the ruling of the council that the walks with snow on in the morning will be cleaned by the city and charged to the property owner.

Terre Haute—The stork played a better hand in Terre Haute during 1916 than the grim reaper. Records show 1,095 births against 982 deaths.

Gary—City Council voted an issue of $60,000 bonds to be spent in the completion of a city park system.

DEFECTIVE FEET AND RED HAIR ARE LEGGE'S WATERLOO.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 29.—Refused by his sweetheart because he is red-headed, and rejected by his country because of defective feet, is the unusual situation in which Albert P. Legge, of Waukegan, Ill., finds himself.

After resolving not to dye his hair, this disappointed lover today madly sought the excitement and danger of a military career by applying for enlistment at the United States Marine Corps recruiting station here. Following a recital of his sweetheart's refusal, Legge said to Recruiting Sergeant Putnam: "If I must die I prefer to do it for my country, I've heard that the marines are first to go when trouble threatens, and I want to get right into action."

"Your legs are in good condition, Legge," he was told after examination by the doctor, "but you have been standing on them too much, the arches of your feet are too low to withstand service hiking, and therefore we can't take you."

The Princess will show Theda Bara in "East Lynne" for the program tonight. It is a William Fox production of this well known stage success. Miss Bara is supported by Clara Whitney and Stewart Holmes. The picturization of the famous play is said to be even better than the original and with Miss Bara in the lead the successful presentation is assured. Tomorrow "The Siren's Song" will be shown in which Miss Diana and Charles Townsend are featured.

THE RUSH COUNTY FARMERS

Live Stock Insurance Company.

To be run on same plan as the Rush County Farmers Fire Insurance Company, losses pro-rated and assessments made.

Insure your horses, mules, cattle against death from any cause except fire and lightning.

It will be solely a company of you Rush county farmers run exclusively by and organized by you on day of organization, as everything proposed that day must meet with your approval by majority before it can become part of the by-laws.

It will come as near being insurance at cost as it is possible to make it, as you will only pay for the actual loss plus the light expense of running the business affairs of the company.

Why can't this organization be just as much of a success as the Farmers Fire, the different telephone exchanges throughout the country?

In fact, there never has been a co-operative organization of the Rush county farmers but what has made a success and there is a reason—they are on the square.

You will note that application membership blank coupon is brief and the reason is that we are merely suggesting to you and soliciting your membership, because on February 1st, 1917, the day of organization you have a voice to all the details of the by-laws and rules under which the company shall be run.

You will note in application for membership coupon the charter membership fee is $3.00. It will no doubt be $5.00 after the company is organized same as Rush County Fire Insurance Company fee, so get in as charter, and in years to come you can say I am a charter member.

Clip out application for membership coupon and mail to L. R. Webb, Rushville, R. R. 3, and he will immediately notify you that your membership has been accepted. We already have quite a big membership subscribed and hope you will lend a helping hand in making this one of the big organizations of Rush county.

L. R. WEBB,
CLEM MILLER,
Organizers.

In filling in blank for the amount of insurance desired for first year will say the average farmer is taking about $500.00.

Application for Membership

I hereby apply for charter membership in the Rush County Farmers Live Stock Insurance Company of Rush County, Indiana, for which I agree to pay on or before Thursday, February 1, 1917, the sum of $3.00 to Clem Miller, at which time he agrees to organize the Rush County Farmers Live Stock Insurance Company, which sum shall be used by him to pay the costs of incorporating and organizing said company.

Nothing to be insured but horses and cattle. Anything insured in other companies, the loss shall be pro-rated between this and other or others. To be run on same plan as Rush County Farmers Fire Insurance company. Losses pro-rated and assessment made.

It is agreed that a meeting shall be held on said first day of February, 1917, at which time said charter members shall organize by the election of officers for the ensuing year, and adopt by-laws.

I further agree to carry insurance in said company for the first year after its organization.

MISTAKES NOW BEING RIGHTED

Great Britain Applies Lessons Learned During 1915 in Year Just Closing.

MUDDLING WILL BE STOPPED

Mistakes Prove Valuable—Now and and Country Seems United—Behind Lloyd George.

BY ED. L. KEEN.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Dec. 20.—(By Mail)—John Bull spent a goodly portion of this year applying the lessons he learned last year.

The mistakes of 1915 were rather distressing at the time, but they proved excellent teachers. Being a backward pupil, as always, John Bull had to be driven, and the process was necessarily painful.

From the Dardanelles to Mesopotamia, from Nouve Chappelle to Loos, from Sofia to Athens, he blundered along, but, as subsequent history has demonstrated, all the time acquiring merit. Out of every strategic failure, every unfulfilled expectation, both military and political, he managed to learn something—and the lessons stuck.

First of all the lesson of centralized power in the direction of war, of internal government, of domestic economy and of efficiency, thoroughly learned, led him to put the man who above all others has done most for England—David Lloyd George—into a practical dictatorship over all those branches of British activity.

The Asquith cabinet, with its "muddling along" fell because British public opinion, almost solidly aligned behind "the little Welshman" demanded supreme efficiency in England's fight for life. It was characteristic of Lloyd George, the breaker of precedent, that he should sweep away nearly all the old ministerial machinery and substitute for loosely knit, slow moving, over-officered cabinet a small, compact war council of five members—and take this step with the eager acquiescence of John Bull.

And John Bull, who usually has to be driven, and who usually hates new-fangled things, showed the transformation in his character which the war has wrought by standing behind Lloyd George.

By reason of his early unsuccessful adventures in the Near East he gathered invaluable knowledge in the matter of organization and equipment which he has this year applied in other quarters. As a result of the failure of his troops in the West in the Spring and Fall of 1915 to attain their desired objective he made certain changes in personnel, vastly improved his organization behind the lines, and above all learned that the only way seriously to dent the German front was with a preponderating supply of shot and shell.

In the field of diplomacy wherein the Germans at first cut circles all around him he is steadily improving. He lost Bulgaria to the Allied cause, but the experience he acquired in that process enabled him to gather in Rumania. Just now, by the fortunes of war, Rumania appears to be a doubtful military asset, if not a liability; but at the time unquestionably the enlistment of this country with the Allies was a diplomatic stroke of first importance.

It was entirely characteristic of John that although he knew Fritz had a 40 years' start of him in this military game he ignored Fritz' methods until they were forced upon him. But now, thanks to the hard knocks of 1915, there is very little more that Fritz can teach him.

Early in 1916 he adopted conscription. Had it been introduced a year before the war might have been over today. Englishmen have responded in unprecedented fashion to their King and country's call under their voluntary system, but it was only the certainty of ultimate conscription that finally brought the enrollment up to five million men.

strategy in general and to Haig's military genius in particular, as well as to the admitted improvement of Tommy as a fighting proposition, and the present superiority of the British air service, there is after all only one answer for the recent successes along the Somme and the Acre—munitions. The lessons of Ypres, Neuve Chappelle, and Loos have been well learned.

In the latter days of 1916 Britain has been applying another lesson—also learned from the Germans—how to provide against the possible day of want, and how to curb the greed of a few unpatriotic citizens who have taken advantage of war's conditions to line their own pockets. In this enterprise, as in others, Britain gives signs of improving on German methods. At any rate it will be able to avoid some of the mistakes made by the German food conservation department, with which it is fully conversant. Before Runciman launched his epochal scheme in Commons last month he had at hand the fullest and most comprehensive reports gathered by the government's intelligence bureaus of the operations of the German system.

There is one realm in which Britain didn't have to take any lessons. As a banker John Bull is not merely comfortably well-heel, he is an expert. The British government, despite its average expenditure of $25,000,000 a day since the war began, besides the tremendous obligations made to its friends, has had no difficulty at all in raising successive loans both at home and in America and at reasonable rates.

Finances and the navy are the least of Britain's troubles in this war, but recently the naval administration long under considerable fire, has experienced a shakeup. Arthur J. Balfour, whose regime as First Admiralty Lord was criticized, is now Foreign Secretary in the reorganized cabinet. The man who with him stood the brunt of complaint for the recent German Channel raid and for lack of suppression of the Zeppelin menace, Admiral Jackson, was transferred from his post of First Sea Lord to the Admiral Board.

Admirals Jellicoe and Beatty, to whom the British public gives credit for the glorious victory off the Jutland coast, advanced by the transfer. Jellicoe became First Sea Lord and Beatty commander of the grand fleet—the youngest man ever to hold that great post. Britannia still rules the waves!

Opinions Clash.

The president did not attend the dinner which was recently given in Washington for Mr. Bryan; but he sent a letter, gracefully worded, though of no special importance.

In his speech to his hosts Mr. Bryan outlined the programme which he desires to have the democrats follow. He runs counter to the president in many ways. For instance, Mr. Bryan is for national prohibition and would commit his party to it. The president, on the other hand, is a state's right man and a local optionist. Mr. Bryan is for the enfranchisement of women by Federal action. The president wants the entire subject left to the action of the individual States. Mr. Bryan opposes the plan for closer Federal regulation of the transportation interests. The president is moving upon congress for an extension of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. Bryan demands a change in the electoral system and wants the Constitution made more easy of amendment. The president has expressed no opinion on these subjects, though he is regarded as unfavorable to them.

It is by no means unlikely that Bryan and Wilson may find themselves in inevitable collision of opinion before two years are out. The subjects which Bryan would impose as cardinal doctrines upon the democratic party are subjects with which the President has scant sympathy or to which he is frankly opposed. His well-known facility for changing his mind may avail him in the case of a clash with his former secretary of state; but the present indications are for a sharply defined line of division.

Facing a deficit of $180,000,000 this year, national administration leaders are quarrelling over the method to be employed to raise additional revenue. Senate Majority Leader Kern wants a bond issue but President Wilson is reported not to be in favor of it. There is available only $200,000,000 which could be used for Panama canal bonds. It is hinted in some quarters that leaders are proposing that the income tax be lowered to include all those making $500 a year or more.

The actual loss in men in the war to date has been fifteen million. This is scarcely comprehensible, but some idea of the thing may be obtained by recalling that about eighteen million votes were cast in the last general election in the United States.

While we are speaking of the high cost of print paper—someone had Fred Landis' speech before the annual banquet of the Indiana Society of Chicago put in the Congressional Record.

Of course, it is nice for Henry Ford's employes to receive such big wages, but think how much they are losing since they have been laid off!

It will be no novelty for some of our young sports to watch the old year out and the new year in because they are generally up until after midnight anyway.

Now that everybody is talking of national defense let's have something besides talk.

An Appreciation of Winter

(Contributed.)

Now that Boreas has come roaring out of the north, blowing his icy breath upon the scene, covering the landscape with a mantle of snow, and placing us suddenly in the grip of winter, we are disposed to complain of its severity. Soaring coal prices, a shortage of gas, frozen water pipes and consequent plumbers bills are not conducive to pleasant thoughts, and we are disposed to rail against old winter who comes dressed in a coat of snow, and with an ice tip at the end of his blue nose.

But winter brings its beauties and blessings now less attractive in their way than those of summer, if only we have the eye to see, and the heart to treasure them. Now the earth is shrouded in a mantle of white, covering the ugly spots and unsightly places. The air, crisp, bracing and invigorating, encourages buoyancy of spirits; the creak of snow and ice under the feet of pedestrians and the wheels of vehicles; the noiseless movement of sleds, and the occasional tinkle of sleighbells; the joyous shouts of school children reveling in sports incident to the season are notes of harmony in the melody of winter. ***

And there is the joy of long winter evening, when the fire burns brightly in the grate and books and magazines with freshly cut leaves are strewn in profusion upon the library table; when undisturbed hours of reading and study claim the attention, and occupy the mind of thoughtful, contented, normal people. Winter brings few joys or pleasures to the mentally poor, who must be amused, and who depend upon cheap shows and street corner assemblages for entertainment. Like certain other animals they hibernate, living in a state of inactivity, complaining of the hardships imposed by winter, and longing for the sunshine of summer to warm them back to life and revive the feeble activities of their dwarfed intellects.

Nature is full of compensations. She paints with a lavish hand the beauties of the varied seasons. Some morning when the temperature has subtracted a few points from zero mark on the thermometer, and you come shivering from bed, forget the momentary discomforts and stop to study the frost etchings on the window. There you will find landscape scenes distinctly executed in wonderful detail. Miniature mountains, hills, valleys, forests, ferns, flowers and shrubbery; lacy patterns of wonderful fabrics, all sketched and woven in a tracery more delicate and a finish more perfect than tiny brush of artist dare try to emulate. And as the sunlight filters through the window panes, the beauties of the fairy scene are magnified with tints and coloring, that fascinate the beholder, and cause him to forget the cold and the rigors of winter. It is one of the many object lessons of the wondrous ways in which nature surrounds us at all times and in all seasons with her marvelous beauties and attraction. If we fail to see and appreciate them, the fault is ours, and not that of the Creator of all good and beautiful things.

Amusements

Here's Where The Fun Comes In

Naming Dolls After Him
Life, love and youth, that eternal triangle that is as old as the aeons of time, will be most charmingly pictured at the Shubert Murat Theatre, Indianapolis, New Year's week by the presentor of bewitching musical comedies Arthur Hammerstein in his newest production "Katinka." This play with its delightful music by Rudolph Friml, its sparkling comedy by Otto Hauerbach, its delectably captivating lyrics and sprightly dances had made an impression on theatre-goers both in the eastern and western metropolis. And its beauty and charm will no doubt linger in the memories of its beholders at Indianapolis' most beautiful playhouse, long after other musical comedies have been forgotten. Manager Hammerstein always on the lookout for novelties, has placed within this production a sensation the like of which has never been seen on the stage before and to say that it will capture its audiences during its Indianapolis premiere would be putting it mildly for it is a tremendous (in the vernacular of the day) "Knock-out."

The other day while a certain little girl, who is past four years old, was in a barber shop here having her hair trimmed, Senator James E. Watson came in. He shook hands with the child and talked to her.

She recognized him and talked of Santa Claus and happenings of her happy Christmas.

Then she went home and straightway named her new boy doll which Santa left her Jim Watson.

Rushville, Ind., Dec. 27, 1916.
Manager the Rushville Republican.

Dear Sir:—I was in to see some sick people living at 839 West Ninth street this morning and I felt it my duty to try to make public their condition. There are eight in the family—father, mother, grandmother and five little babies, the youngest only four days old, and they are all sick, with very little to eat and no fuel to burn. If someone doesn't help them, they surely will suffer worse than they are now. So if you will make known in your paper the terrible condition of this family, perhaps someone who can will help. If you doubt my word go to 839 West Ninth street and see.

Yours truly,

WILLIAM JOHNSON.

MAILS TO CARRY FILMS

Postmaster G. P. Hunt has received an order from the postoffice department at Washington which says that moving picture films may be shipped in the mails henceforth outside of mail pouches as parcel post; but that they must be packed according to interstate commerce regulations. This means they must be packed in tightly inclosed metal cases, which must be inclosed in a strong, spark-proof wooden box. There must be a label with the word "Caution" and a line showing the contents.

Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed Senreco to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially as to its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhœa, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested Senreco from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis.

And They Voted Yes

With practically one accord—said:

"Senreco appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen," "I cannot say too much for Senreco. It's one of the best I have used," "I can recommend Senreco as the best," "Makes the teeth glisten and is free from injurious ingredients, including pumice and grit," "I am indeed glad to get a tooth paste that does the work," "Congratulate you on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc." (These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)

LLOYD GEORGE MAKES AN APPEAL CUBS MANAGER AFTER PITCHERS

Calls on American to Answer the Call of Destiny—Refers to International Law.

COMPARED WITH ROOSEVELT

Writer in Everybody's Writes of England's New Premier in Glowing Terms.

(By United Press.)

New York, Dec. 29.—An appeal to America from the British Premier, David Lloyd George, "to realize the call Destiny is making to her" for "the enforcement of International Law and International Rights" is contained in Isaac F. Marcosson's personal study of England's Prime Minister in the current issue of Everybody's Magazine.

"The hope of the world," said Lloyd George in his "message to America," "is that America will realize the call Destiny is making to her in tones that are getting louder and more insistent as these terrible months go by.

"That Destiny lies in the enforcement of respect for International law and International Rights."

"Throughout our talk," says Marcosson, "he had sat in a low chair, sometimes tilting it backwards as he swayed with the vehemency of his words. Suddenly (in recognition of Marcosson's question), he became still. He turned his head and looked dreamily out the window at his left, where he could see the throng of Whitehall as it swept back and forth along London's Great Military Way.

"Then, rising slowly and with eloquent gestures and trembling voice, (he might have been speaking to thousands instead of one person,) he gave me his message.

"It was a pregnant and unforgettable moment. From the throne room of a colossal conflict England's War Lord was sounding the note of a distant process of peace.

"If you had probed behind this kindling utterance you would have seen with Lloyd George himself that beyond the flaming battle-lines and past the tumult of a World at War was the hope of some far-away Tribunal that would judge nations and keep them, just as individuals are kept, in the path of right and humanity.

"But before any such bloodless antidote can be applied to International Dispute to quote Lloyd George again. This war must be fought to a finish."

"These final words snapped like a whip-lash and emphasized with a fist beat on the table, meant that England would see her Titan Task through, and if for no other reason, because the man who drives the war-gods wills it so.

"What sort of man is this who goes from post to post with inspired faith and unfailing execution? What are the qualities that have lifted him from obscure provincial solicitor to be the Prop of a People?

"Reducing the wizard Welshman to a formula, you find that he is fifty percent Roosevelt in the virility and forcefulness of his character; fifteen per cent. Stallings Says Mitchell Is Best Man Weeghman Could Have Secured for Job

By H. C. HAMILTON

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 29.—Just before shaking the dust of New York off his feet and beating it for solicitude to think over his task of remaking the Cubs, Fred Mitchell, the new manager picked off by Charles H. Weeghman, gave it out that one thing is certain when the former smashers of the National league get going again.

"We will have the best pitching staff in the league before many seasons have passed," Mitchell declared, "and I expect to improve it greatly before the end of next season. I don't expect to win a pennant next summer, but we'll not finish last, either."

Mitchell was making no idle boast when he announced that he expected to improve the Cub pitchers. He'd have to be pretty bad to make them look worse. But it is true that in all this country of baseball clubs there is not a man who has had more success in developing pitchers than Fred Mitchell. The magnificent array of the Braves is sufficient evidence that he knows his business.

Mitchell was a pitcher when he first started his career, and he formed part of the staff with which Connie Mack hoisted himself into his first American league pennant. He was later with the Phils and then was released to Brooklyn. At the end of the 1915 season his arm began to fail and Mitchell was switched to Toronto.

jean's love of letter-writing. As I have already intimated, whatever may be his future, Lloyd George will never be confronted by accusing epistle. None exists.

"Like Roosevelt, Lloyd George is pastmaster in the art of effective publicity. He has a monopoly on the British front page. Each of these remarkable men projects the fire and magnetism of his dynamic personality. Curiously enough, each one has been the terror of the Corporate. Evil-doers—the conspicuous target of Big Business in his respective country. Each one is a dictator in the making, and it is safe to assume that if Lloyd George lived in a republic, like Roosevelt he would say: "My Army," "My Navy," and "My Policies."

Roosevelt, however, has one distinct advantage over his British colleague in that he is a deeper student and has a wider learning.

"In one God-given gift Lloyd George surpasses not only Roosevelt, but every other man I have ever met. It is an inspired oratory that is at once the wonder and the admiration of all who hear it. He is in many respects the greatest speaker of his day—the one man of his race whose utterance immediately becomes world property. The stage last a great star when the Welsh David went into politics.

SOCIETY

A dinner-dance will be given at the Social Club on Tuesday evening following New Years.

The Christmas party for the members of the R. C. S. Club is being held this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kenner.

Mrs. Lenore Blackridge was the guest of Mrs. Edgar Michener of Connersville yesterday afternoon and attended the joint meeting of the Musicales last evening.

The meeting of the Coterie Club, which was to have been held with Mrs. C. M. George on Monday afternoon, has been postponed for two weeks when it will be with the same hostess.

Miss Letha Higgins and Miss Helen Thomas left today for Newcastle, where they will attend a house party over the week-end, being given by Miss Marian Mann.

Miss Edith Buell of this city and Russel Gray of Mauzy attended the Christmas dance given in the K. of P. hall in Connersville on Wednesday evening by the members of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity.

About a dozen of their girl friends are being entertained by Miss Beatrice Reeve and Miss Gladys Beabout at dinner this evening at the home of Miss Reeve in North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Manlief entertained at their home in East Tenth street last evening when the 12 members of the degree staff of R. N. A. were the guests. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music, at the close of which dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Kathleen Hogsett and Harold Bever spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Norris of Carthage, after which they went to Newcastle and will attend the dance there this evening. Miss Hogsett is the guest of Miss Bernice Burgess and will remain until the first of next week.

Honoring Robert Ables, who is home from the navy spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Nina Lewis, was the honor guest at the luncheon given at noon today by James C. Amos at his home in North Harrison street. Covers at the prettily decorated table were laid for twelve guests.

About 125 couples, with Kappa Alpha Phis, from all over the state, danced at the Claypool last evening in Indianapolis at the annual fraternity ball. The party was given in the Riley room and music was furnished by the six-piece Reginald Devall orchestra. From this city the following guests attended, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Capp, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gunning, Posey Denning, Denning Havens, Miss Edith Wilk and Miss Alleine Budd.

Miss Helen Dugan was pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of her friends in honor of her birthday which was celebrated in this manner. The young people spent the evening in playing games and dancing after which refreshments were served. In the party thus honoring Miss Dugan were the Misses Lucile and Lillian Cummins of Peru, Hazel Stoops, Muerella Roth of Connersville, Gladys Beabout, and Margaret Cooning and Harold Perkins, Howard Brecheisen, Everett Oakley, Ed Meredith and Duane Reed.

The Shakespeare Club will open the interesting series of programs for the year with the meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of the Misses Mary and Nora Sleeth when they will be assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Donald Smith. Preparatory to the lecture to be given later in the month by Prof. Jenkins, the program Tuesday evening will be on Count Leo Tolstoi. His life will be discussed by Miss Kathryn Petry and Miss Anna Bohannon and "Anna Karenina" will be reviewed by Miss Pearl Kitchen.

About 24 of the friends of Miss Dorothy Sparks will gather at her home in North Main street on Sunday evening to watch the old year out.

The Christmas dance given by the K. of P.'s for the members of their families in their beautiful dance hall last evening was extremely well attended. Forty-seven couples were present to enjoy one of the most pleasant parties of the winter. The music was unusually good. Mitchell's three piece orchestra, including a saxophone and with Miss Hilda Linstrom at the piano, played for the program of dances. Miss Hester Porter of Shadyville, and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood were among the dancers.

The members of the Evening Card Club will observe the New Year by having a pitch-in dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rutherford in North Main street, on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Miller of North Perkins street had as guests today, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Senior of Terre Haute, who have just returned from a visit with Mr. Senior's relatives in Brookville, and Mrs. Martha Cowan of Milroy.

The possibilities of having an opening meeting in the spring will be discussed at the meeting of the Woman's Council to be held in the director's room of the Rushville National Bank on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It will be in a form of a civic meeting when improvements for the city will be discussed. A financial report showing the standing of the organization and the visiting nurse fund since the organization has had it in charge will be given.

Old schoolmates formed the majority of the party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boon Powers in North Morgan St. today when a group of long-time friends gathered for an all-day visit together. The dinner served at noon was a pitch-in affair and was a bountiful one, indeed. The center of the table bore a small Christmas tree on which were favors for each of the guests. In the company were Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Norris, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Norris of Carthage, Mrs. Gilbert and son Alfred, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cline, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Newhouse, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Mauzy, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Parish, Mrs. Fanny Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whaley of Milroy.

Will Merrill entertained the members of the S. O. D. H. Club with a merry holiday party last evening at his home, southwest of the city. In the fun-making contests, Miss Rema Mahin and Miss Letha Hungerford were the winners. Games were played and light refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be with W. A. Mull, southwest of the city on Thursday evening. Members of the club attending the pleasant gathering last evening were the Misses Frances Thompson, Rema Mahin, Bertha Halterman, Carrie Halterman, Maude Green, Ruth Halterman, Edith Hungerford, Zeola Merrill, Myrtle Ormes, Letha Hungerford, Louise Mahin and Retta Alter, Watson Miller, Frank Webb, Ralph Hill, Paul Hungerford, Herbert Brown, Tinsel Merrill, Alvin Ormes and Fred Mahin.

The program planned by the members of the Connersville Musicales for the members of the local Musicales who were their guests last evening was a polished musical treat. The evening's entertainment was at the home of Mrs. Clarence Waldron in Central Avenue and consisted of a varied program of duo piano numbers, vocal selections, violin solos, and readings. With favors and decorations suggestive of the Yuletide, the home was decorated. The season was also suggested in the delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream, in the molds of Santa Claus and his brownies and cakes. On April 2nd, the Connersville organization will be entertained by the Ladies Musicales of this city. Thirteen Rushville ladies attended last evening while there were about 35 of their hostesses.

The holiday meeting of the Grand Club was held with Mrs. A. L. Riggs at her home in North Perkins street yesterday afternoon when the twelve members of the club spent the afternoon engaged in interesting Bridge games. The two course dinner was served at the dining table which was centered with a bouquet of carnations and narcissus. Later the husbands of several of the members were invited in for dinner.

The Christmas dance given by the K. of P.'s for the members of their families in their beautiful dance hall last evening was extremely well attended. Forty-seven couples were present to enjoy one of the most pleasant parties of the winter. The music was unusually good. Mitchell's three piece orchestra, including a saxophone and with Miss Hilda Linstrom at the piano, played for the program of dances. Miss Hester Porter of Shadyville, and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood were among the dancers.

The Christmas party for the members of the R. C. S. Club is being held this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kenner.

Mrs. James Moore attended the Shawmut Society in Connersville Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. J. Ronan, during her short visit there.

The meeting of the Coterie Club, which was to have been held with Mrs. C. M. George on Monday afternoon, has been postponed for two weeks when it will be with the same hostess.

The Christmas dance given in the K. of P. hall in Connersville on Monday evening was a success.

dock, cod, carp, hake or any kind will do; one and one half cups of milk; a slice of onion; three tablespoons of butter; three tablespoons of flour; a half teaspoon of salt; a little pepper; a half cup of buttered crumbs; and some spices, preferably a little mace and bay leaf.

Scald the milk with onion and spices. Then remove the seasonings, melt the butter, add the flour, salt and pepper and gradually add this to the milk. Boil this for three minutes. Put one-half of the fish into a buttered baking dish and pour half the milk sauce over it. Put the rest of the fish over this and pour in the rest of the sauce. Cover this with the crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown.

A Fascinating Subject

After we have graduated from school or college we are apt to believe erroneously that we know about all there is to know. One study, however, we may pursue advantageously as long as life, no matter how much we have learned. It is the study of human nature.

Have you ever been in a crowded subway or elevated train? Have you ever watched the hurrying, jostling crowd, and smiled over the different expressions, some of dismay, and others of good humor, as the overworked guard attempted to close out others who were pushing their way in? And have you not learned something of value about people each time?

An absorbing study is human nature. One that invites the deepest observation and study.

Some one has said, "The study of human nature is all right, but when one studies it to excess one is likely to become discouraged over the character of the race."

Of course that may follow with some people. They are the ones who are so full of human nature themselves that they are overwhelmed by its more disagreeable moods.

There are many undesirable natures in the world. But on the other hand thousands more—yes, hundreds of thousands more—are well-intentioned, upright and noble.

And let me whisper a secret in your ear—the unspoken recognition of faults in others may help you to correct similar flaws in your own make-up. That alone would make it worth while, would it not?

Cultivate the study of human nature, friends. Read it and weigh it and compare it with your own. Unless I am much mistaken you will profit thereby to no small extent.

At least you will if you search for the best there is in it.

REGIMENT MUSTERED OUT

Third Indiana Goes Home After Serving Six Months.

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—The third Indiana Infantry which has been quartered at Ft. Benjamin Harrison since early in December, was mustered out today. The men were in service six months; five of which was spent on the Mexican border.

Capt. I. L. Hunsner was in charge of mustering out the men. They were given their pay and allowed to depart for their homes immediately after the mustering out formalities were concluded.

Col. Aubrey D. Kuhlman was the chief officer of the Third. The companies were recruited in North-Indiana cities.

TALKS ON HOME RULE.

Columbus, Ind., Dec. 29.—John A. Lapp of the legislature reference bureau, spoke before the annual meeting of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce here today on home rule for cities. He explained the tendency toward establishing commission forms of government in cities, for which no provision has been made in Indiana.

Were dry, voted wet—Muncie, 30 saloons, Greensburg, 6 saloons.

Were wet, went dry—Columbia

City 4, saloons, Booneville 7, saloons; Greenfield 6 saloons, seventy saloons in the First and Fourth wards in Indianapolis were forced out of business by remonstrances.

One township voted wet and one went dry by remonstrance.

AFTER GRIPPE

Mrs. Findley Made Strong by Vinol

Severy, Kans.—"The Grippe left me in a weak, nervous, run-down condition. I was too weak to do my housework and could not sleep. After trying different medicines without benefit Vinol restored my health, strength and appetite. Vinol is a grand medicine and every weak nervous, run-down woman should take it."—Mrs. Geo. Findley.

Vinol sharpens the appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood, and builds up natural strength and energy. F. B. Johnson &amp; Co., druggists, Rushville, also at the leading drug store in all Indiana towns—(Adv.)

BOTH FACTIONS ARE CONFIDENT

Wet and Dry Forces of State Believe They will be Successful in Coming Year.

PAST YEAR HAD BEEN DRAW

Brewers' Association is Satisfied With Work Which Has Been Along Educational Lines.

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—

With the score for 1916 running about even, leaders of the wet and dry factions in Indiana today predicted success for their side of the question during 1917, in statements made to the United Press today.

"The year of 1916 has been a very satisfactory one as far as our industry is concerned," said James C. Kelley, secretary of the Indiana Brewers' association. "Cities have voted wet and dry but the balance is about even. The most significant thing about the elections during the year is that Muncie, the largest so-called dry city in the state, returned to the license column.

"The efforts of this association have been directed toward educational work and law enforcement. Efforts in one or two localities for a time, seemed fruitless, but sentiment is now compelling a strict enforcement of the law.

"It is a fact that with the exception of about three Indiana cities, the liquor laws have been rigidly observed since the passage of the Proctor act in 1911. In all places where the law is so observed the public seems more than satisfied with conditions."

Were dry, voted wet—Muncie, 30 saloons, Greensburg, 6 saloons.

Were wet, went dry—Columbia City 4, saloons, Booneville 7, saloons; Greenfield 6 saloons, seventy saloons in the First and Fourth wards in Indianapolis were forced out of business by remonstrances. One township voted wet and one went dry by remonstrance.

LAUNCH SUDDEN OFFENSIVE TODAY

Germans Attack Along a Two-Mile Front Around Dead Man's Hill — French Counter Attack.

FELL INTO TRAP, PARIS SAYS

London, Dec. 29.—Germans launched a sudden offensive on the west front, according to today's war office statement. The attack was on a front of two miles around the famous Dead Man's Hill.

The first, second, and third-line trenches around Dead Man's Hill were penetrated, Berlin announced. German soldiers held the positions against French counter attacks. The taking of 200 prisoners was announced.

Paris declared that the attack failed, a small number of Germans penetrating a French trap.

LIKELY NOT TO END THE WAR AT ONCE

Peace Efforts Probably Will Not Get Results Until Another Big Struggle is Staged

ALLIES MAKE PREPARATIONS

By CARL W. ACKERMAN (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin (Via Wireless to the United Press) Dec. 29.—Judging from reports from the front and diplomatic comments the peace efforts that President Wilson, the central powers and Switzerland are now making will not succeed immediately in bringing the war to an end.

That the war will not end without the allies making another gigantic concentrated effort to break the German front is indicated by the itinerary preparations which are being made.

The allies apparently expect to accept Von Hindenberg's challenge for winter battle.

When these battles begin peace talk probably will subside to await the outcome of the struggles.

FORWARD PEACE NOTES

Scandinavian Nations Join United States and Switzerland

London, Dec. 29.—The Scandinavian nations have forwarded peace notes to the European belligerents, according to a Copenhagen dispatch today.

Although Swedish dispatches yesterday said that government had denied sending a peace note, all available information in London today tended to confirm the report that the note had been sent.

ASKS CLOTHES BE RETURNED

Ruth Ryon Brings Replevin Against Husband and His Parents

Alleging that her husband and his parents are keeping her clothing and personal effects in their possession without right, Mrs. Ruth Ryon this afternoon filed a replevin suit against Elmer Ryon, her husband, and his parents, John Ryon and Delta Ryon. Mrs. Ryon recently filed a divorce suit against Elmer Ryon. In the complaint for replevin she claims that the defendants refuse to give her such personal belongings as a navy blue jacket, a hat, a pair of shoes and numerous pieces of furniture. Mrs. Ryon is a minor and the action is brought by her father, Mat Beaver, as her next friend. A. E. Gary represents the plaintiff.

The Captain of the Salvation Army wishes to thank the people of Rushville for their contributions of food and clothing for the poor of this city. We are still taking care of the needy, and any further help will be appreciated. I wish also to thank the people who turned their donations over to me.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY JAN. 7

On Same Day the Rev. M. C. Pearson Will Address Men's Meeting

Sunday, January 7, will be observed as "Go To Church Sunday" by the Protestant churches of Rushville and special sermons will be preached by all of the pastors. On the afternoon of the same day a men's meeting will be held and will be addressed by the Rev. Morton C. Pearson, secretary of the Indianapolis Church Federation. The place has not been determined.

A union watch meeting will be held on Sunday night to usher in the special week of prayer union services.

It was to be held at the First Baptist church, but that edifice will not be ready and it will be held at the First Presbyterian church instead.

ARCHITECTS FORM FIRM

W. C. McGuire and W. B. Shood Open Offices in Indianapolis

William C. McGuire, formerly of Rushville, and Wilbur B. Shood, formerly with Herbert Foltz, architect of Indianapolis, have opened offices at suite 336, Indiana Pythian building, Indianapolis, for the practice of architecture, under the firm name of McGuire and Shood. Mr. McGuire was associated in the design and supervised construction of the Peoples National bank building, the Masonic temple, New Salem school and the George C. Wyatt & Co., building in and near Rushville; the Indiana Masonic home at Franklin and other work throughout the state. Mr. Shood has a university training and wide experience in architectural design on important work in Indiana.

LEADERS MUST HEED DEMANDS OF VICTIMS

"peace panic," can make themselves heard—and, as Mr. Wilson would say, they are especially "vocal" just now—there will be no stifling of the resolution to investigate the "leak."

THOMAS CAMPBELL DEAD.

Thomas H. Campbell, a widely known attorney of Shelbyville, died suddenly last evening from heart disease. He had been in ill health for three weeks but was not thought to be seriously sick. He was fifty years old and was a member of the law firm of Campbell and Wray. Mr. Campbell was well known here especially among the members of the bar.

KOKOMO MAN NAMED.

Columbus, Ind., Dec. 29.—O. C. Smith of Kokomo, Ind., was today elected president of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting here. The next meeting will probably be held in South Bend.
